- a) Do not have a high enough level to do the face to face IELTS preparation course and
- b) Do not want to do the General English course.
- c) Want to understand the techniques and features of the test

What is it?

These classes are sessions in Arabic to compliment the Understanding IELTS MOOC (Massive Open Online Course) by FutureLearn.com which starts on Monday 2 October for 6 weeks

Who is it for?

This is an IELTS preparation course for learners whose general English level is lower than CEFR B1.

Why is this course different from the other IELTS courses?

The course will provide live advice, feedback and practise tasks. The majority of the course will be in Arabic to allow for questions from learners with a lower than CEFR B1 English.

Where is the course?

There are no location restrictions, and you have complete flexibility. Learners must have access to the internet and have a device (laptop, ipad or Smart phone) which can be used to download ZOOM. You can then study anywhere; from home, your office or a local café.

How much?

Launch offer price is JOD120 for Arabic instruction to complement the free FutureLearn.com Understanding IELTS MOOC.
